Description

Petrified logs are normally made from stone and difficult to find as they are buried underground and millions of years old. Mineheart has developed a concrete inspired version, sculpted by hand and cast in industrial reinforced concrete. The log shape was originally carved by hand to reproduce a natural tree stump shape complete with all the irregularities expected such as cracks, bark and branches. The form was then used to make a mold and then reproduced in concrete. Buy Now: <https://mineheart.com/concrete-stool/>
